

Alberni Valley TIME

AVT

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 2008

AVTIMES.NET

3-MINUTE READING

LOCAL

Entrepreneurs help keep Ty Watson safer

Staff and residents of Ty Watson House were pretty rattled after last month's vandalism incident, when persons unknown hurled a huge werpot through a downstairs window. But thanks to the generosity of two young Alberni Valley entrepreneurs, they can now feel safer. Gun Nemec and Ivan Parac, owners of the fledgling Falcon Systems, have installed a room, state-of-the-art video monitoring system. PAGE 3

LOCAL

Who would be mayor of Port Alberni

Race for mayor is shaping up to be an interesting contest, with a popular incumbent, two engaging local parties filling out the ticket. As Savard, who ran unsuccessfully for council in 2005, is up-front about his reasons for winning: slim to none. But the "retired logger, musician, student and poet" determined to bring up some hot issues about how Port Alberni should be run. PAGE 3

COMMUNITY

Tall Ships 2008 was a time to release your inner pirate. Denise Pearson strikes her best Jack Sparrow at Tall Ships Festival 2008.

Sponsors needed for Tall Ships Festival to grow

SHAYNE MORROW AV TIMES

The final report on the Port Alberni Tall Ships Society 2008 Festival of Sails has now been released.

The final consensus? Port Alberni has hosted two successful Tall Ships

"But in order to expand and improve, there will have to be more players at the table."

A a

May ques of te stud

HEATHER I

The de rezone
a new rally w locatio

This ti
Jen Fis support
ary Sch
the nev
they are
Bradley
She su
being m
or thin
where t

Other wasn't manipu

ADSS
was cor
politica
politica
away a with up the day.

He qu
student about t
for a n school.